Attention is called to the advertisement of M. McInerny, Ltd., appearing in this issue. This is the oldest firm of clothiers and mens' furnishers in the islands and any of the goods sold by it will stand the most minute investigation. The tailoring department which was installed a year or more ago, has proved a great success and a boon to men who want an individuality in their clothing that is not obtainable in ready-to-wear suits. An examination of the large stock of materials in the store will be interesting.

GRAFT CHARGES LEAD TO BIG LIBEL SUIT

Police Commissioner Waldo of New York city and former candidate for congress has instructed his counsel, George Gordon Battle of O'Gorman, Battle & Marshall, to sue the New York Tribune, the New York Herald and the New York Press for libel in publishing statements concerning the testimony of Lieutenant Costigan before the grand jury relating to the murder of Gambler Rosenthal by alleged members of the so called "New York gambling trust." He demands $250,000 damages from each paper. It was said that in each case legal process was properly instituted.

The statements complained of by Commissioner Waldo were substantially to the effect that Lieutenant Costigan had testified that Commissioner Waldo had failed to act upon testimony the lieutenant had presented to him against gambling houses, although the testimony was sufficient to warrant police action. Commissioner Waldo took the ground that the published statements charge that he has negligently permitted or willfully connived at the maintenance of gambling houses in New York city.

He says that the newspapers have not done him justice and that they have deliberately sought to influence public opinion against him.

TRADE IS BRISK; SPECULATION DULL

Dun's Review (New York, August 3):

Trade expansion contrasts with speculative dullness. Inasmuch as the increased industrial and mercantile operations involve larger demands for money, while requirements in connection with moving the crops will also be heavy, it is, on the whole, fortunate that there is no great speculative activity to add to the burdens of the money market, which is giving signs of an advancing tendency. The industrial and trade situation is thus in advance of the speculative securities market, but the sluggishness of the latter is not an indication of suspicion as to the reality and permanence of the former. The crop situation, upon which national prosperity so largely depends, is in an eminently satisfactory position. Some uncertainty still exists as to cotton, as is evidenced by the wide fluctuations in the market for cotton options, but the latest news shows improvement in the eastern cotton section, with lack of moisture again reported in the Southwest, notably Texas. The grain crops are in a very promising condition and every day now adds to their security from unfavorable weather developments. A noticeable note of optimism prevails in business circles in most sections of the country, which is not appreciably affected by the usual excitement of a presidential year. The great prosperity of the iron and steel industry is steadily maintained in all its important branches; and the railroads already in possession of a traffic, as indicated by gross earnings in the three weeks of July, 3.4 per cent. larger than last year, are preparing for a still larger business by liberal arrangements for rails and equipment on a scale in excess of most former years. A midsummer lull prevails in merchandising in dry goods, yet many orders are coming in for future delivery. The shoe trade also maintains recent improvement. The generally advancing tendencies of the business situation are strikingly indicated by bank clearings for July, which show gains of 7.4 per cent. over 1911 and of 5.2 per cent. over 1910, and these gains are well distributed over the different sections of the country, a proof, that business improvement is national in scope. The July failure exhibit still shows the effect of the former strain by the large number of defaults and the increase in liabilities over the corresponding month in the two preceding years, a result which is largely due to the increase in small failures.

The further price advances on steel products testify to a large volume of new business, and there are indications that the bulk of output is going directly into consumption. Demand is broadening, with the smaller plants reporting steady improvement in sales. It is estimated that orders for equipment from the railroads this year will surpass all records since 1907. Purchases of plates and structural material continue a feature and quotations are higher, with premiums paid in some instances. Crude steel is steadily becoming scarcer and prompt deliveries are more difficult to obtain. An advance in pig iron is considered probable, especially on basic iron, which has been quite active during the past few weeks. Recent contracts include 20,000 tons taken by one interest, while there is also a large inquiry for southern iron.

Liabilities of commercial failures for July are $16,098,460, of which $6,167,222 were in manufacturing, $7,147,499 in trading and $2,783,819 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 291 in the United States against 232 last year, and 24 in Canada compared with 42 a year ago.
